SWEET CHILD OF MINE
CHILD MORTALITY IN VENETO AT THE DAWN OF THE DEMOGRAPHIC TRANSITION

G. Dalla-Zuanna, A. Minello, L. Piccione

Index

About the authors 9
Preface 11
Michel Oris

Chapter 1 - Introduction 15
Gianpiero Dalla-Zuanna
1.1 A strange demographic trend 17
1.2 Three historical and demographic problems 21
1.3 Acknowledgements 29

Chapter 2 - A Backward Region? 31
Andrea Zannini
2.1 Introduction 31
2.2 Contradictions of the agricultural sector 33
2.3 Backwardness and innovation in industry 37
2.4 A hidden modernization 40
2.5 Conclusions 43

Chapter 3 - CHILD: a New Nominative Data-set 44
Leonardo Piccione and Alessandra Minello
3.1 The project 44
3.2 The registers 45
3.3 Linkage performance 50
3.4 The issue of stillbirths 51
3.5 Migrations and data quality 57

Chapter 4 - An Overall Premilinary Picture 60
Leonardo Piccione and Gianpiero Dalla-Zuanna
4.1 Central Veneto: an heterogeneous landscape 60
4.2 Specific life tables 65
4.2.1 Sex 65
4.2.2 Season of birth 67
4.2.3 Socioeconomic status 67
4.2.4 Parish of birth 69
4.2.5 Temporal trends 78
4.2.6 Cause of death 80
4.3 Open questions 81

Chapter 5 - Early Mortality Selection 93
Leonardo Piccione, Gianpiero Dalla-Zuanna, Alessandra Minello
5.1 What is mortality selection 93
5.2 Theoretical background 95
5.3 Premilinar results and methodological choices 99
5.4 Measuring selection 107
5.5 Summing up and giving new directions 109

Chapter 6 - Territorial Differences 116
Leonardo Piccione
6.1 Splitting the survival time 117
6.2 Describing the community variables 124
6.2.1 Rurality 124
6.2.2 Altimetric zone 126
6.2.3 Illiteracy 127
6.2.4 Religious affiliation 127
6.3 The effect of the community on infant mortality 131
6.4 Models at the community level 133

Chapter 7 - Low and High Temperatures 135
Leonardo Piccione and Adriano Paggiaro
7.1 Introduction 135
7.1.1 The meteorological time series 135
7.1.2 Discrete time models 136
7.2 Models and results 139

7.3 Robustness checks 144
7.3.1 Family level 144
7.3.2 Non-linear dependence from temperature 145
7.3.3 Different choices regarding the population of interest 147
7.3.4 And the context? 147
7.4 Summing up 148

Chapter 8 - Early Baptism & Early Mortality 149
Alessandra Minello, Gianpiero Dalla-Zuanna, Guido Alfani
8.1 Introduction 149
8.2 Evolution of ecclesiastic rules in Western Europe 153
8.3 Empirical findings in Europe and Italy 155
8.4 Early baptism and early mortality 158
8.5 Data and methods 161
8.6 Results 168
8.6.1 Changes in birth-baptism gap and early mortality 168
8.6.2 Surviving after baptism 173
8.7 Discussion 177
Appendix: data quality 181

Chapter 9 - Conclusions 184
Gianpiero Dalla-Zuanna and Alessandra Minello
9.1 Main results 184
9.1.1 Quality & quantity of the data 184
9.1.2 A difficult place to be for winter newborns 186
9.1.3 Between selection and homeostasis 186
9.1.4 The importance of family 186
9.1.5 Changing mortality, and a changing mentality 187
9.1.6 What did not happen 188
9.1.7 An uneasy geography left to be explained 189
9.2 Possible directions for future research 189
9.2.1 New data collection 190
9.2.2 Future analyses 191

References 193
Index of tables 203
Index of figures 206